The Jane H. & Rabbi Sidney H. Brooks Conversations for Change Series brings thought leaders to Omaha to share their experiences around confronting prejudice, bigotry, and discrimination to build and strengthen the bridges between differing communities.

Jane H. and Rabbi Sidney H. Brooks dedicated their lives to advocacy and service, leaving a lasting impact on both the Jewish and Omaha communities. Jane championed mental health, housing, education, and civil rights, while Rabbi Sidney, who led Temple Israel for 33 years, advanced interfaith understanding and was recognized nationally for his leadership in diversity and inclusion.

This year, we are honored to welcome Gaby Natale, triple Daytime Emmy® winning journalist, bestselling author, and leadership speaker known for her barrier-breaking impact and message of reinvention.

As the first Latina to win three consecutive Daytime Emmys® and the first Hispanic author published by HarperCollins Leadership, Natale brings a dynamic, multicultural perspective to conversations on equity, leadership, and courageous change.
